Dr. Anthony Curinga

Dr. Anthony Curinga was described in his own yearbook as "always ready with a smile and a pat on the back, just as the solder began to flow." Twenty years in practice has not diminished his humor and warmth. Dr. Curinga is always around when needed, (although breaking through his horde of followers is not easy). His style of teaching makes learning enjoyable, without compromising high standards. When things don't go according to plans, (as they often don't) he is always there with an encouraging word or a bad joke, which is much needed.

Thank you Dr. Curinga for making Dental School memorable, and for sharing yourself with us.

Dr. Mark Tepper

Dr. Mark Tepper is an instructor whose innovation and persistence have resulted in a modernization of Prosthodontic theory and practice taught at Columbia. As a person, Dr. T's warmth and enthusiasm are always evident, and his informal manner of teaching lends itself to an environment in which learning is more pleasurable. Dr. Tepper is commonly seen after school hours, helping his students overcome the trials and tribulations of dental school, and preparing them for practice in the 'real world.'

Thank you, Dr. Tepper for your dedication and honesty, and for teaching us to strive for perfection. We are honored to become colleagues with a man like you.

SCHOOL OF DENTAL AND ORAL SURGERY
Office of the Dean

630 West 168th Street

October 29, 1982

Dear Class of 1983,

Each of you is delighted to see your long eight years in college and dental school come to an end. Your thoughts turn to the beginning of a new life as a non-student. For the first time there will be no one "looking over your shoulder." You are anxious to begin to make independent decisions in your chosen field, and looking forward to the challenges dentistry will have for you.

The faculty is happy for you, but sad to see you go. For each student brings something unique to our school. Each of you has enriched our school a little more each year as you studied here. The school becomes stronger because you have poured your individual talents into its very fiber. So, we will miss the opportunity to interact with you.

While we realize coming back to the school is one of the last thoughts in your mind on graduation day, the time will come when you want to interact again in an educational environment. As you begin to make your decisions as a professional you will find the desire to seek council, learn more, or just plain unload some of the complex issues confronting all of us on "someone else." The faculty wants you to know that the "someone else" can always be us.

The graduates of Columbia have made special contributions to our profession. You will too. Please accept our best wishes for a long, productive, and happy career.

Sincerely,

Allan J. Formicola, D.D.S.

THE MANDOLIN

I remember opening the case
Of my grandfather's mandolin
After dusting off the cracked Alligator skin cover, and smelling the Oiled, and now aged sweet wood, wrapped
In one of Abe's undershirts that has yellowed.
The voice silent for fifteen years as it lay Buried under the books and rugs in the attic, Still sounding a rich and probably deeper tremolo Since Zayda's hands last held it.
Beneath its back lay scrolls of Old Yiddish songs pressed flat since
They were last played, the ink of the Fountain pen somewhat faded, and
The paper stiff and fragile.
Those picks once sat on his pinkies and Danced on the strings, reviving
Voices of the Ukraine and The Land.

1907-1982

The members of the alumni wish to pay special tribute to Bess Finkelstein. To us she was a very good and loyal friend. We will always remember her diligent work as treasurer for the Alumni Association and her outstanding life time career in Dental Hygiene. Her Character can best be revealed within her own philosophical view of life. She believed that life was made joyous by fruitful labor, and that friends were the truest form of love.
